A WOMAN IN IT.

Mrs. Ollie Brown Shoots and Kills Deputy Sheriff.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 20 .- Shortly after midnight last night Mrs. Ol lie E. Creamer shot and instantly citizen, and a deputy sheriff under the former administration. The story of the killing as told by Mrs. Cramer is as she was awakened by a strange and unusual noise. She arose from her bed and, revolver in hand, stepped to the door, which she opened and fired into the air, hoping thereby to frighten the intruder away. Hearing footsteps on the other side of the house she called out: "What do you want? Get away from here," at the same time discharging the revolver. Again she started to walk around the house, and encounter-ing a man she fired at point blank range, and the man dropped to the ground, Late homeward bound pedestrians, startled by the shots, hastened to the scene and discovered Mrs. Creamer standing over the body of the man with the still smoking revolver in her hand. A hasty investigation disclosed that the dead man was Mark Bourn. The bullet pierced his brain and he must have died nstantly. Mrs. Cramer sent for Sheriff Colcord and surrendered herself to him. She was afterward released under a bond of $2,500, the best citizens of the city going her security. Before the Coroner's inquest, which was held this norning, F. M. Reynolds stated that he had parted company with Bourn, who was very much under the influence of iquor, just a few moments before the killing. Mrs. Cramer is the widow of a brave soldier, Brig. General Francis L. Creamer. She is poor, with two small boys to support.

Killed His Brother-in-law. TEXARKANA, ARK., April 20 .- Two months past engaged as partners in the shoe business, quarreled yesterday, and one of them, Fillepe Marieno, removed his belongings, leaving the other, An-tony Cingotta, in charge of the shop. Last night while the latter was at work Marieno suddenly appeared in the door of the shop and fired four shots in rapid succession, three of which took effect in the arm, breast and shoulder of Cingotta. The latter wound is considered a ery serious one. After firing the shot Marieno ran, closely pursued around the block by Cingotta, who was armed with a shoe knife. Overtaking him the wounded man knocked his assailant down, and would have killed him had not the Marshal been on the spot and prevented him. The would be assassin was arested, and Cingotta was taken home, where he now lies in a precarious
